Our Procurement Policy

We commit ourselves to be real promoters of change by helping to design a new idea of reliable, safe and responsible value.

The Lamberti Group adopts the culture of sustainability and is committed to sharing it with all its stakeholders. With their involvement and collaboration, we want to leave a sustainable legacy for the future generations. We therefore commit ourselves to be real promoters of change by helping to design a new idea of reliable, safe and responsible value.

Lamberti's Group Procurement Policy is finalized to source raw materials, assets, products and services from suppliers who share these principles and our corporate values based on integrity and respect for environment, people and local communities. Our Supplier Code of Conduct, which is made available to all our suppliers, sets and defines the basis for our collaboration with suppliers regarding:

- Compliance with laws and regulations
- Standards for ethical and responsible business conduct
- Health, safety and quality

- Environmental impact of products, manufacturing processes and services
- Responsible use of natural resources
- Respect for people, local communities and fundamental human rights

We expect our suppliers to adhere and share the principles listed above.

We plan to conduct regular reviews based on sustainability risk assessments either by third-party evaluation or by on-site audits. Should a supplier fail to uphold any aspect of our Supplier Code of Conduct, we will develop corrective actions together with the relevant supplier to ensure that the same observes these standards in the future.

We reserve the right to terminate an agreement with any supplier that cannot demonstrate that it is upholding these principles.
